Rome, August 7.

Efterday there was a Confiftory, at which the Cardinals Cortini and Grimani and not appear, the Pope having waind them to be absent. When te Cardinals had had their Audiences, his Holynels made a Speech to them, in which having a quainted them that he could no la ger tarbear to make Use of the Spectual Arms in D fence of the Eccle itical Im unty, he dec and hat he had caus'd Senence of Ex ommunication to be affix'd against the Ministers of Seco and N ples, an ag inft the Emperour's Com flare who had put under Contribution the Ciergy in he Ecclefiaftical

State and elf where. From he Amfterdam Courant, dated Sept. 6. Vienna, Aug. 24. The Emperour has made Count Sepoen Coba i Lieurenant General of his Armies. Some Parties of the Malecon ents have within thefe few Days burnt several Places on his fide he River Lei ha, kar'd force of the I habi ants, driven away the reft, a d carry'd off all the Ca le. On the other Hand, Coun Rabutin, who went in the Night with a Detachment from Leiden, has atrack'd and taken Keres: 'Tis confi m'd likewise that he has fallen on the Body commanded be Borbiani, kill'd most of his Tolpaizes, and taken every thing hat was in his Camp. Letters from Scale z in Moravia fay, that fome Hundreds of Malecontents came into the Neighb urhood of that Piace, and deftrov'd feveral Villages with Fire and Sword : U on which the Garrison and Burgers of that Town being reinforc'd by a Detachment from Count S aremberg's Army, made a Sall, fell on the E emy, and pur them to fight; and that in the Action about 100 of their Men, and 30 of ours were kill'd. There is a R port that the Malecon ears will cho fo the Elector of Bavaria for their King, and that they have fent Depuries to him to eff r him the Crown on certain Condi ions : But this is not certain. We are much furp iz'd to hear that the Pope has Excommunicated the Marquis de Prie, the Emperor's fift Commiffary in Italy, and feveral Officers of the Duke of Savoy, because her had rais'd Contributions on the Clergy of the Ecclefi fical State: The Emperor has held feveral Councils on this Affair, but we know not what they have refolved. The Nearolitans are diffatisfy'd with the Conduct of Count Martiniz, and complain thereof; fo that the Court here is consulting how to make them east. Some Letters from Hungary say, that the Malecontents have chosen the Emperour for their King; which (if true, as is hardly credible.) its supposid they have done to supposid they have done to thew that their Kingdom is not Hereditary but Elective. General Rabutin will march towards Transilvania.

'Tis advis'd from Sohl Weiff nierg, that there was a great Conffernation in the Neighbourhood, because the Cavalry of General Rabutin was arriv'd near Papa, and had burnt and destroy'd not only that Place, bu many of the adjacent Rebellious Villages; which made them apprehend the fame fare, for which R of n they fld into the Woods for Sheller, and left their Villages without Inhabitants.
